As the daughter of a retired Naval Chaplain, Fran moved often. She learned early what it's like to uproot a life and create a new one. Nearly 25 years ago, she moved to the Bay Area, studying at San Jose State University and starting a career in high-tech sales. It's with that skill, diligence, and empathy that she's become a sought-after Realtor and corporate relocation expert for well-known Silicon Valley corporations. Her clients appreciate her forthright nature and proactive attention. Fran helps executives and their families create the lifestyle they really want. Dedicated to excellence, she's one of America's Best Real Estate Agents by RealTrends, in partnership with Zillow and Trulia in 2013 and 2014. A top producing agent, she's committed to lifelong learning, earning designations such as Certified Negotiation Specialist, Global Mobility Specialist, and has completed Stanford University's Negotiation Strategies Program. Passionate about her career, she's also devoted to her family.
